How do you know when the time is right?

Having the conversation about assisted living is never easy between family members. However, learning about your options can help prepare everyone for this life-changing decision.

Fox Communities Credit Union is sponsoring a seminar to help answer the question: "Is it Time for Assisted Living?" Join us on Tuesday, May 13, at Fox Communities Credit Union, 3401 E. Calumet St., Appleton, or on Thursday, May 15 at Harmony Café, 1660 W. Mason St., Green Bay. Each one hour seminar will be presented at 6:00 pm.

Our presenter, Vince Cassiani, Ph.D., will cover everything you need to know about transitioning to home care, an assisted living facility, or a nursing home facility, from both the side of the aging parent and the side of the adult child. He'll talk about signs that your loved one may be ready for assisted living, financing options, and how to choose a residence.

Dr. Cassiani has been in the healthcare field since 1970. He has managed, owned, and developed, healthcare facilities throughout Wisconsin. He is the founder of Angelus Retirement Corporation, and was the sole owner of Addison-Rand; a subsidiary company managing Angelus assisted living residences.

Register for this informative seminar at: www.foxcu.org or by calling Linda at (920) 993-3736. This seminar is free and open to the public.
