

Arrange a classroom speaker today!

Fox Communities Credit Union is dedicated to the financial literacy education of our membership and the community as a whole. This includes classroom presentations which over the years, we've had the privilege of presenting to hundreds of classes and thousands of students.

Our presenters bring years of expertise to your classroom, free of charge, to share informative, interactive presentations. No sales pitch. No push to join Fox or any other financial. These strictly informative sessions include games, activities or video clips.

The majority of these classes are designed to be modified for a variety of age levels and abilities from middle school through high school.

We can develop a lesson plan to fit your unique needs. Whether it's a topic you don't see listed or you'd like a combination of a few. We're happy to assist.

Presentations are arranged and some are presented by our Member Education Officer, Linda Fickau. Linda is a former classroom teacher, who successfully combines her background in both education and finance, to help students learn how to make great choices when making financial decisions.

Financial Education: Giving students the right foundation

Money Management

Feeling Smart about Your Money...Priceless!

Most people think they know how to spend...but not necessarily in the best way. Find out why a savings account is a good thing, ways to save, ways to spend, and how to choose a financial where you can save all of your hard earned money.

Cash for College

College is one of the first big "purchases" you'll make. Learn how and why you should be saving for college right now, and if there's a way to reduce the cost of college. Information about the FAFSA and other types of loans will also be covered.

College Just Ahead

Does it pay to go to college? Find out what a difference it can make over a lifetime of earnings. Explore ways to reduce the cost of college before you go, and once you're there. We'll also cover some basic money management skills that will help you feel confident about your finances.

Who's Got Your Number? - Preventing Identity Theft

Why would someone want to use your identity? You don't have much money, maybe not even a job! Learn what ID Theft is, how fraudsters get your information, what they do with it, and how you can help prevent it from happening to you.

Budgeting Basics

Did you know that even millionaires need to plan how to use their money? This session will take a look at building a spending plan, why you need one, discover ways to save, and how opening a savings account is essential to every great spending plan.

Comparison Shopping

You'll never look at shopping in the same way after this lesson. We'll cover five important steps to take to become a comparison shopper instead of an impulse buyer. Then...get ready to get your hands wet! You'll be water testing three brands of paper toweling. Then using the five steps you just learned, you'll decide which paper towel would be the best one to purchase.

Investing 101

Making your money work for you is an important piece of preparing for the major financial milestones in your life. In this presentation learn what investing is, and why people choose to invest. Also learn the difference between a stock, bond, and a mutual fund.

Credit and Loans

Know Before you Owe

Most people think credit cards are bad, when in reality they're not good or bad. Learn what credit is and how to handle it. You'll also learn about those loans that sound like they may be too good to be true: payday loans and rent to own agreements.

What's the Score?

We all know that we get graded for our hard work in school; but did you know that you get graded on handling your money too? Find out about credit reports, credit scores, how to improve your score, who's looking at your score, and how it impacts the cost of your everyday life.

There's no Place Like (Your Own) Home

Some say owning your own home is the "American Dream"...and for some it is. This session takes a look at how to tell if you're ready for home ownership, the benefits of owning and of renting, how your credit report and score affects your purchase, and the true cost of buying and owning a home.

Career Development

The Power of the First Impression

Congratulations...you got the interview! Now what? Learn how to prepare for your job interview and how to impress them from the start.

Mock Interviews

Practice makes perfect...especially when it comes to job interviewing skills. We can help out with your next mock interviewing event with your students.
